POLICY

1. Guiding Principles

- When any individual identifies their association with the Club they are expected to behave appropriately, in ways that are consistent with the Club's values and policies.
- The web is not anonymous. Users of social media websites should assume that any comments made by them will be able to be traced back to them as individuals or to the organisation in general.
- Due to the unique nature of the Club the boundaries between work, volunteer time and social life within the organisation can become blurred. When using social websites, employees and members need to make a clear distinction between their activities as an employee or member and their personal activities undertaken outside of the Club.

Honesty is always the best policy. Always think of the web as a permanent record of activities and act with integrity.

2. Usage

- All current professional responsibilities of the Club's employees and members remain in force when using social media websites.
  - a. Online activity:
    - i. must not interfere with work or Club commitments;
    - ii. must not contain or link to libellous, defamatory or harassing content, including by way of examples, illustration or use of nicknames;
    - iii. must not contain or link to pornographic or indecent content.
    - iv. must not comment on or publish information that is confidential or proprietary to the Club, or its affiliates, partners or sponsors; and
    - v. Must not bring the organisation into disrepute.
    - vi. Members and employees may not use the Club brand to endorse or promote any product, opinion, cause, or political candidate. It must be abundantly clear to any other user that any opinions expressed by an employee or member are personal opinions only and do not represent the views of the Club.

    - TSLSC has the right to remove any content;
  - Members and employees must not use TSLSC online pages to promote personal projects or opinions; and

4. Consideration towards other members and TSLSC employees when using Social Networking sites

- Social media websites allow photographs, videos and comments to be shared with other users. It may not be appropriate to share work-related information in this way.
- For example, there may be an expectation that photographs taken at a private TSLSC event will not appear publicly on social media websites, both from those present and perhaps those not at the event.
- Publication of such photos could inadvertently make TSLSC liable for breach of media or sponsorship copyright.
- Employees and members must be considerate to their colleagues in such circumstance and must not post information when they have been asked not to. They must also remove information about a colleague if that colleague asks them to do so.
- Under no circumstance should offensive comments be made about TSLSC colleagues online. This is indicative of bullying behavior and is deemed to be a disciplinary matter.

5. Friends and Connections

- Member and employees are encouraged to use their best judgment in deciding if or at what level they want to connect with clients, peers, colleagues, supervisors, vendors, journalists and members on social media websites. TSLSC will support employee and member decisions to keep online relationships strictly professional
- Under no circumstances should offensive comments be made about TSLSC colleagues or the club online

A breach of this policy will result in disciplinary action. This may involve a verbal or written warning and in serious cases, termination of your employment or engagement with the Club.

Any members and employees that are unsure of their rights, liabilities or permissible actions online and would like clarification should discuss the issues with their direct area manager or refer to the Responsible Director.
